Dust Problem to be Remedied

Following a number of meetings between West Coleman citizens and the town council and school board, it appears that action is to be taken by Coleman Collieries to eliminate the dust problem that has been aggravating the residents living in this area.

The Collieries have brought in an engineer from Cominco in Trail, B. C., who, with engineers and officials of Coleman Collieries, are discussing the construction of a dust trap to alleviate the residents' complaints.

This action by the Collieries has satisfied residents here to the extent that they will wait for three weeks to give the Company time to correct the problem.

School children were kept out of classes on Friday, June 7th, in protest to the dusty conditions encountered in the schools and to get action on the problem.

Residents also planned to picket coal trucks that were travelling over roads in town and creating another dust condition, but action was taken by those concerned to oil the roads.

Mr. T. M. Brown of Pincher Creek celebrated his 89th birthday at his home on Sunday, June 16th. Approximately 60 friends and relatives gathered during the day and evening to wish him Many Happy Returns of the Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown came to the west in the year 1906 from Illinois, U.S.A., when he purchased his ranch north of Pincher Creek.

The spirit of hospitality of the west was always observed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brown during the 40 years they resided on the ranch, which was open house and a home to many.

School Construction Progressing Favorably

Good progress is being made on the construction of the new school in Coleman, this week, and it is expected that the new structure will be ready for occupancy by September, the beginning of the fall term.

Architects designing the school were Lurie and Neufeld of Lethbridge, and Chronic Construction of Lethbridge are the contractors building the new unit.

The school is being built at a cost of $42,000, with the provincial government taking up the debentures on the building. Equipment cost and the landscaping cost is still under discussion.

When completed the modern school will comprise ten classrooms, an auditorium, two science labs, a general purpose room, a shop, home economics room and music and teachers' offices.

Following the enjoyable barbecue the nurses enjoyed a number of outdoor games.

The draw for the Scholarship Fund was made on June 12th at the Orpheum Theatre in Blairmore and the lucky winner of a Pole Lamp was Glen Girihiny of Coleman.

The 100 per cent use of safety glasses in all its plants was instituted by GM of Canada in 1958.

G. Atkinson of Coleman, Alberta (right), receives congratulations from O. Celli, manager of Celli Building & Supply in Coleman, as a winner in the nation-wide Canadian Johns-Manville Homesteading contest. Mr. Atkinson is a recipient of a Beaver "1500" radial arm saw awarded in the cross-Canada competition which is sponsored in the interests of home improvement, do-it-yourself, and homesteading projects.

JUNIOR CITIZEN AWARD

For the second year a Junior Citizen award designed to give young Albertans the recognition they deserve and to further encourage the spread of good citizenship among today's young people, has been announced by Calgary Power Ltd.

The Journal is co-operating with the rest of the weekly press in Alberta and we take pleasure in pointing out this novel idea to our readers. Every community may not have a candidate, but at least we should review the achievements of our young people each year to see if any should be nominated from our district.

There will be six junior citizens selected for the award of a Canada Savings Bond and a framed citation of their achievement each year. As pointed out in the announcement of this series of awards elsewhere in this issue, you — the readers of this newspaper — will contribute to the success of the program by sending in nominations.

To qualify any boy or girl in Alberta, 16 years of age or under, whom you deem worthy of special recognition for any outstanding achievement, between October 1, 1962, and August 1, 1963, is eligible. Possibly your nominee has performed an act of physical heroism — done an outstanding work with a church, school, social or other organization. Perhaps he or she has organized a worthwhile project, achieved scholastic success under adverse circumstances or shown great courage in illness. The achievement could be in connection with his or her family, his school or his community.

The area of qualification is virtually unlimited. Therefore young people deserving of special recognition in any sphere may be nominated for Junior Citizen of the Year!

Send details of your nomination to this paper with the name, address and age of the young person. We are proud to be able to play a part in this recognition of community young people. But don't wait. Nominations must be made by August 1.

Coleman Man Gets Three Months

Ernest Alexander Bettinger appeared before Magistrate F. S. Radford of Blairmore, on Tuesday, June 11th, on a charge of "Criminal Negligence".

Bettinger elected trial by Magistrate and pleaded guilty to the charge that was laid by RCMP of the Blairmore detachment. Bettinger was sentenced to three months in the Lethbridge Provincial Jail!

It is alleged that on May 30th Bettinger was at his home near the nuisance grounds when William Kinney, 10, and Allen Forano, another Coleman youth, were near the Bettinger home, and it is said that the lads threw stones at his house.

At the hearing he indicated he had come out of his home and fired a .22 calibre rifle in the direction of the lads, but had not intended to wound the boys.

Kinney was shot in the right thigh and was hospitalized in the Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital.

Bettinger appeared before Magistrate Radford on June 1st, but was remanded to June 11th and released on $500.00 bail.

During the

OF MANY THINGS
(By Ambrose Hills)Prairie Upsurge

There is growing optimism on the prairie West. You can feel it in the air. Manitoba's COMEF Report indicates it; Saskatchewan is raring at the bit, counting on the completion of the dam to speed its industrialization; and oil-rich Alberta is reading the annual reports of gas and oil companies with understandable joy.

This burgeoning of the West does not go unnoticed elsewhere. Last year the great Lever Brothers organization held its annual meeting in Winnipeg, and included a trip out to Altona in its survey of Western growth.

The other day British industrialist, G. H. Sugden, head of a giant engineering complex, was here to study handling devices developed by the Hart-Emerson Simon division of Simon Day Limited. He assured Manitoba officials the products would now be marketed throughout the world.

On June 19, in Winnipeg, the investment house of Nesbitt Thomson will hold an economic forum to which the general public interested in the economic future of the prairies will be invited. A panel of experts will answer questions of an economic nature for all comers. The company admittedly chose Winnipeg for the forum to identify itself with the West, where it foresees tremendous growth of an industrial nature in the next decade.

The other day a professor of an Eastern university, paraphrasing Horace Greeley, advised students to "Go Western, young men". He said the attitude of Westerners was right, it was rambunctious and lively. This is the attitude that accounts for the boom that has now begun on the three prairie provinces.

Do not think that anything as intangible as a mere attitude is to be sniffed at. F. R. Daniel, president of Dominion Textiles, told a group of manufacturers in Toronto on June 3rd that what Canada needs most today is an attitude favorable to industrialization. It is an attitude that the Japanese and some of the other re-built nations are getting ahead of us.

Mr. Daniels must have been speaking of the East. Out here on the prairies - yes, even in socialist Saskatchewan - arms are wide-open for industry, and the people have a warm feeling towards it. They know that industries make jobs and improve the lot of us all.

Any person with money to invest would be wise to invest it now in the West, where the population will welcome it and do everything possible to make it pay off for the investor.

OF MANY THINGS
(By Ambrose Hills)The National Council of Women

I have always been impressed by the work of the National Council of Women.

When they undertake a task, they do it right. Their representations to the Cabinet, or to other authorities, are always eminently practical and sound.

An example, which should be of interest to all women, was the brief they presented to the Royal Commission on Taxation. It cannot fail to impress the commissioners. I feel confident that as a result of the submission, the terrible practice of capitalizing widows' pensions and demanding full payment within six years will be discontinued.

It is not Christian, it is palpably unjust. The case against it was made very effectively by the Council brief.

The Council was founded by Lady Aberdeen, wife of the then Governor-General of Canada, in 1893, its object being "to unite a Dominion federation, for the betterment throughout Canada of conditions pertaining to the family and the state, all societies and associations of women interested in philanthropy, religion, education, literature, art or social reform."

The Council has lived up to its purpose. It has not become an organization of fuzzy thinking do-gooders, but has been practical, sound, and down-to-earth. It has won the respect of Canadians, not by publicity seeking but by carefully-reached decisions on policy and action. It is not forever passing resolutions and letting them die. What it starts it finishes if it takes a month or many years. That is why I am sure it will get our ridiculous Estates Tax laws reformed.

The National Council of Women of Canada represents about 700,000 women. I'd wager it represents five times that many voters, because of its influence and the good sense of the proposals it puts forward.

More power to it!

Wedding Solemnized

Baskets of yellow gladiolus, red carnations and white spray mums graced the altar and lily of the valley tied with pink and blue bows marked the pews of St. Paul's United Church, where Darlene "Honey", eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Korman of Coleman, exchanged vows and matched wedding rings with Allan, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Rae of Blairmore.

Rev. de Leeuw performed the afternoon ceremony and Miss Cynthia Bond provided the wedding music. During the signing of the register, Miss Eleanor Raymond sang "Because".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length Norganza gown with bly point sleeves and scooped neckline. It featured appliques of lace jeweled with seed pearls and sequins on the bodice and hip line of a softly flowing bouffant skirt draped up with Norganza roses to make a sweep train.

Her silk illusion cloud veil, which was also appliqued with lace and jewelled with seed pearls and sequins, nestled from a Queen's crown of iridescent crystal and seed pearls. A single strand of pearls and single pearl earrings, the groom's gits, completed her ensemble and she carried a bouquet of red sweetheart roses entwined with white satin ribbon and green ivy. A tiny white Bible lay among the roses, a gift to the bride from her mother.

The bride's sister, Miss Marilynn Korman, as maid of honor, wore a full-skirted frock of pink chiffon over taffeta with white lace panel down the front.

Bridesmaids Miss Gloria Fraser

and Miss Eleanor Raymond wore identical sheaths of lined organza in a darker shade of pink with appliqued over-skirts. They all wore pink accessories and matching head-piece with veils held in place by a single rose and carried baskets of feathered pink carnations and white spray mums.

Melodie Stanfield, cousin of the bride, was flower girl wearing a pink tulle dress with full stand out skirt and pink lace bodice and lace inserts around the skirt. She wore white accessories and a white nylon pleated picture hat. Her smaller basket also contained pink feathered carnations and white spray mums.

Best man was Mr. Bob Emerson of Blairmore, and the ushers were Mr. Leroy Failler of Mayerthorpe, and Mr. George Hurtak of Bellevue.

Following the ceremony a family supper was held at the Elks hall. Mr. Emerson, master of ceremonies, proposed the toast to the bride. A reception was held in the evening followed by a dance.

For travelling to Vancouver, Seattle and the west coast, the bride changed to a pink linen sheath with matching three-quarter coat. White accessories and pink rose corsage completed her ensemble.

On their return the young couple will make their home in Calgary until September when they will reside in Boston, U.S.A. where Mrs. Rae has enrolled in the Berkley School of Music.

Inspiration

Under Canadian democracy there are three interlocking divisions of power: the legislature, the executive and the judiciary. Each one plays its unique part - Parliament, the cabinet and the courts - but each acts as a balance on the others. No government which unnecessarily exceeds its powers will escape censure. From this there is no escape, even under the most dire extremity.

If we are to avoid anarchy, we must live under the law. This is a rule which applies to governments as well as to citizens. It restricts arbitrary authority. It requires that all acts of government must be authorized by laws applied and interpreted by the courts. No one can lay a finger on any principle more vital to a people's happiness than this: justice and honourable treatment.

The administration of justice is a creditable phase of government in Canada. The judiciary has been incorruptible and free from political interference or popular control. Its function is to administer the laws made by the federal, provincial and municipal governments in such a way as to make certain that every person receives just and honourable treatment.

The law is a sturdy bulwark against abuse of power by the government. The dominant rule of the nineteenth century was economic but the threat of tyranny in this century is from the State. Wrong acts are done by governments in some countries with the apology that though they know the acts to be wrong they will ultimately contribute to the public good. The argument that unjust means are justified by righteous ends, carried to its greatest elaboration by Machiavelli, is an accepted belief in many lands.

Between the wars some people in democratic countries came to think that dictatorships were more efficient than democracies because Hitler revived the economy of Germany and Mussolini made the Italian trains run on time. History shows how false the idea is. Uncontrolled power in the hands of man or a group of men switches tires from one position to another on the car prolongs life tire. Tire switching save tires by equalizing wear and "exercising" the spare. By switching your tires every 5,000 miles and using the spare you can drive 25,000 miles and put only 20,000 miles of wear on each of the tires.

Bride-elect Honored At Shower

A miscellaneous shower was held in the Elks hall on June 6th in honor of Miss Sharon Sudworth, bride-elect. The hall was decorated with apple blossoms and lilacs, with 150 friends and guests in attendance.

Mrs. Connie Michalsky presided at the piano and played the "Wedding March" as the bride-elect. Miss Sudworth, was escorted and presented with a corsage by Mrs. Joan Square.

Mrs. J. Sudworth, mother of the bride, was escorted and presented with a corsage by Mrs. A. Hirst.

The groom-to-be's mother, Mrs. B. Vanoni, was escorted and also presented with a corsage by Mrs. Mitzi Moore.

The entertainment of the evening was whist and bingo. Whist honors went to first, Mrs. A. G. Gario; 2nd, Mrs. Mary Kropinak, Joan Square, and the minister, very consolatory to Mrs. J. Yates.

The door prize was won by Mrs. L. Marra.

Bingo prizes were numerous and won by many.

The boxes containing the bingo prizes were a piece of art made by Mrs. Ada Rinaldi of Bellevue—one in the form of a miniature CNP Hospital, the other a wedding cake. An amusing "skil" of a mock wedding was very ably carried out by the following: the bride, Mrs. Laura Trotz; the groom, Mrs. Joan Square; father, Mrs. Edna Campbell, and the minister, very ably played by Mrs. Ada Rinaldi.

The amusing skit brought roars of laughter. The bride's bouquet was tossed into the crowd and caught by Mrs. Alice Sudworth, for which she was awarded a prize.

A delicious lunch was then served by the hostesses after which the tables were cleared and the honored guest was presented with many beautiful and useful gifts.

The major gifts were a washing machine, set of Revere Wear pots and pans, carpet sweeper, kitchen utensils and rack, electric tea kettle, cannister set and bread box. The hostesses' gift was an ironing board and floor polisher.

Card of Thanks

I would like to express my sincere thanks to all those who attended my shower and to those who donated but could not attend. My special thanks to the hostesses for making it such a success.

(Miss) Sharon Sudworth.
